

To Rami's potential student,

I have had the pleasure of being tutored by Rami for over a semester. Sessions with Rami were more like a fusion between studying with a friend and being tutored by someone more experienced.

Rami's approach to learning is very unique, and his willingness to share his insight is exceptional. He has been acknowledged by our previous Calculus 1000 professor after he made a video for the class breaking down a new concept into a very simple, visually intuitive way. The effort was voluntary and the video got featured on the OWL homepage!

No matter what level of understanding you're at, Rami makes sure to explain the concepts in a manner that you can relate to. I can guarantee you that you will feel his passion for teaching mathematics from your first session.

I hope you learn a lot from what he has to offer!

Best,

Zainab Mohamed
